It is fitting that I express to you my feelings of deep appreciation that you should select me to preside over your deliberations. It is not my wish nor intent to make any extended remarks, but it may not be out of place for me to suggest that the Senate is just as important a branch of the law-making machinery of the state as is the House of Representatives and that we cannot faithfully discharge our duties as senators by carelessly affixing our approval to the measures which may come up from the House nor without giving to our office the greatest care and the hardest kind of work, to the end that wise legislation may be initiated and harmful or foolish measures defeated. I pledge you that I will faithfully and impartially discharge and perform all the duties incumbent on me as President of the Senate according to the best of my abilities and agreeably to the rules and regulations of the constitution and the laws of the State of New Hampshire. I await the pleasure of the Honorable Senate.

COMMUNICATION ADDRESSED TO THE SUPREME COURT.

The President read the following communication addressed to the supreme court:

CONCORD, N. H., February 27, 1917.

To the Honorable Justices of the Supreme Court of New Hampshire.

GENTLEMEN: On the fourteenth day of February, instant, the Senate passed the following resolution:

"WHEREAS, A bill entitled 'An act relating to qualifications of notaries public' has been introduced and is now pending in the Senate, the essential part of which, for the purpose of the following resolution, is as follows:

"SECTION 1. Any person whether male or female, but in all other respects except sex, qualified to vote in town or state affairs may be appointed to the office of notary public.'

"Now therefore be it

"Resolved, That the President of the Senate be and he hereby is directed to obtain the opinion of the supreme court as soon as possible as to whether, if said act were passed, it would violate any provision of the state constitution, and more particularly as to whether the legislature has the constitutional power to authorize the governor and council to appoint women to the office of notary public."

Agreeably to, and in accordance with, the instructions contained in said resolution, I desire your Honorable Body to consider the question raised and submitted in the same, and to report to me your opinion, for the benefit of the Senate, as soon as convenient.

Respectfully yours,

JESSE M. BARTON,
President of the Senate.

OPINION OF SUPREME COURT.

Agreeably to the above request transmitted to the supreme court by the President, requesting an opinion as to the constitutionality of House Bill No. 211, An act relating to qualifications of notary public, the following opinion was rendered:

*The Honorable Jesse M. Barton,

SIR: The undersigned justices of the supreme court in response to your communication under date of February 27 informing us of the passage by the Senate on February 14 of a resolution requesting our advice, under the requirements of the constitution respectfully submit our opinions upon the question presented.

The question is whether the legislature has constitutional power to authorize the appointment of women to the office of notary public. The question is answered in the affirmative. The legislature has such power. In 1906 at the request of the governor and council, the justices expressed the opinion that the executive was without power to appoint a woman notary public, because a notary public was a public officer and by our common law a woman could not hold public office and no legislation was discovered abrogating our common law rule as to this office. 73 N. H. 621. It was then stated that because the appointment of notaries was provided for in the Massachusetts constitution it was there held that the legislature was without power to make the qualifications for the office different from what they were understood to be when the constitution was adopted, 165 Mass. 599, but it was said that notaries are not mentioned in our constitution. No opinion was then expressed upon the question of legislative power because that question was not within the constitutional advice requiring power of the body then asking. But attention was called to the legislation removing the restrictions upon the holding of certain public offices by women, that had been enacted. Laws, 1872, c. 8; G. L., c. 87, s. 10; Laws, 1879, c. 57, s. 19; Ricker's Petition, 66 N. H. 207, 230. As the restriction is merely a common law rule, the legislature has power to abolish the rule in the absence of constitutional inhibition. By the constitution full power and authority is given to the general court to "provide by fixed laws for the naming and settling, all civil officers within the state, such officers excepted the election and appointment of whom are hereafter in this form of government otherwise provided for; and to set forth the several duties, powers and limits of the several civil and military officers of this State." Const., Part II, Art. 5.

As notaries public are not mentioned in the constitution, they are not excepted from the general grant and the whole matter of providing for their appointment and of prescribing the qualifications essential thereto is left to the judgment of the general court.

Amend said bill by striking out all after the enacting clause and substituting in place thereof the following:

SECTION 1. No person, co-partnership, or corporation shall make any loan of money, credit, goods, or things of value in the amount or to the value of three hundred dollars, or less, whether secured or unsecured, and charge, contract for or receive a greater rate of interest than six per cent per annum therefor, without first obtaining a license from the selectmen or board of mayor and aldermen of the town or city wherein such business is conducted. Application for such license shall be in writing and shall contain the full name and address, both of the residence and place of business, of the applicant and if the applicant is a co-partnership, or corporation, of every member, or officer thereof; also the city or town, with street and number, if any, where the business is to be conducted. Every such applicant, at the time of making such application, shall pay to the town or city wherein such business is to be conducted the sum of fifty dollars as an annual license fee and in full payment of all expenses of examinations under, and administration of, this act.

The applicant shall also, at the same time file with the town or city a surety company bond in which the applicant shall be the obligor, in the sum of one thousand dollars, which bond shall run to said town or city for the use of said town or city and of any person, or persons who may have a cause of action against the obligor of said bond under the provisions of this act, and shall be conditioned that said obligor will conform to and abide by each and every provision of this act and will pay to the town or city and to any such person or persons, any and all moneys that may become due or owing to the town or city and to such person or persons, from said obligor, under and by virtue of the provisions of this act.

Upon the filing of such application and the approval of said bond and the payment of said fee, the selectmen or board of mayor and aldermen shall issue a license to the applicant to make loans in accordance with the provisions of this act for a period which shall expire the first day of April next following the date of its issuance; provided, that if the license is issued for a period of less than six months the license fee shall be twenty-five dollars. Such license shall not be assigned.

If in the opinion of the selectmen or board of mayor and aldermen the bond shall at any time appear to be insecure or exhausted, or otherwise doubtful, an additional bond in the sum of not more than one thousand dollars satisfactory to them shall be filed and upon failure of the obligor to file such additional bond, the license shall be revoked by said board.

The selectmen or board of mayor and aldermen may, in their discretion, upon notice to the licensee and opportunity to be heard, revoke such license if satisfied that the licensee has violated any provision of this act; and in case the licensee shall be convicted a second time of a violation of section 2 of this act said license shall be revoked; provided, that the second offence shall have occurred after a prior conviction. The issuance of another license after a revocation shall be at the discretion of the selectmen or board of mayor and aldermen.

Not more than one office, or place of business shall be maintained under the same license but the town or city may issue more than one license to the same person or corporation upon the payment of an additional license fee and the filing of an additional bond for each license.

In case of the removal of a licensee, he shall at once give written notice thereof to the selectmen or board of mayor and aldermen who shall attach to the license their consent in writing to the removal.

The selectmen or board of mayor and aldermen for the purpose of discovering violations of this act, may either personally, or by any person designated by them, at any time and as often as they may desire, investigate the loans and business of every licensee and of every person, co-partnership and corporation by whom or which any such loan shall be made, whether such person, co-partnership, or corporation shall act, or claim to act as principal, agent, or broker, or under, or without the authority of this act; and for that purpose they shall have free access to the books, papers, records and vaults of all such persons, co-partnerships and corporations; they shall also have authority to examine, under oath, all persons whomsoever, whose testimony they may require, relative to such loans, or business.

The licensee shall keep such books and records as in the opinion of the selectmen or board of mayor and aldermen will enable said board to determine whether the provisions of this act are being observed. Every such licensee shall preserve the records of final entry used in such business, including cards used in the card system, if any, for a period of at least one year after the making of any loan recorded therein.

No licensee or other person or corporation shall print, publish, or distribute or cause to be printed, published or distributed in any manner whatsoever, any written or printed statement with regard to the rates, terms or conditions for the lending of money, credit, goods or things of value, in amounts of three hundred dollars or less, which is false or calculated to deceive.

SECT. 2. Every person, co-partnership and corporation licensed hereunder may loan any sum of money, goods or things of value not exceeding in amount or value the sum of three hundred dollars and may charge, contract for and receive thereon interest at a rate not to exceed three per cent per month.

Interest shall not be payable in advance or compounded and shall be computed on unpaid balances. In addition to the interest herein provided for, charges may be made as follows: On loans not exceeding fifty dollars in amount, an inspection fee of one dollar may be collected at the time the loan is made, and on loans exceeding fifty dollars in amount, but not exceeding three hundred dollars, an inspection fee of two dollars may be collected at the time the loan is made, provided, however, that such inspection fees shall not be collected from the borrower for any new or additional loan, renewal or extension of the loan, unless at the time of making such new or additional loan, renewal or extension a period of at least four months shall have elapsed from the time of making the previous charge for investigation. No charge or inspection fee shall be imposed unless the loan is actually made and no such fee shall be charged on any loan less than fifteen dollars. No charge, or amount whatsoever for any examination, service, brokerage, commission or other thing, or otherwise, shall be directly or indirectly charged, contracted for or received, except as hereinbefore provided, and except the lawful fees, if any, actually and necessarily paid out by the licensee to any public officer, for filing, or recording in any public office, any instrument securing the loan, which fees may be collected when the loan is made, or at any time thereafter.

If interest, or charges in excess of those permitted by this act shall be charged, contracted for, or received, the contract of loan shall be void and the licensee shall have no right to collect, or receive any principal, interest or charges whatsoever.

No person shall owe any licensee at any time more than three hundred dollars for principal.

SECT. 3. Every licensee shall:

Deliver to the borrower, at the time a loan is made, a statement in the English language showing in clear and distinct terms the amount and date of the loan and of its maturity, the nature of the security, if any, for the loan, the name and address of the borrower and of the licensee and the rate of interest charged. Upon such statement there shall be printed in English a copy of section two (2) of this act;

Give to the borrower a plain and complete receipt for all payments made on account of any such loan at the time such payments are made;

Upon repayment of the loan in full, mark indelibly every paper signed by the borrower with the word "paid" or "cancelled," and discharge any mortgage, restore any pledge, return any note and cancel any assignment given by the borrower as security.

No licensee shall take any confession of judgment or any power of attorney. Nor shall he take any note, promise to pay, or security that does not state the actual amount of the loan, the time for which it is made and the rate of interest charged, nor any instrument in which blanks are left to be filled after execution.

SECT. 4. No person, co-partnership or corporation except as authorized by this act shall, directly or indirectly, charge, contract for, or receive any interest or consideration greater than six per cent per annum upon the loan, use or forbearance of money, goods or things of value or upon the loan, use or sale of credit, of the amount of value of three hundred dollars or less.

The foregoing prohibition shall apply to any person who, as security for any such loan, use or forbearance of money, goods or things of value or for any such loan, use or sale of credit, makes a pretended purchase of property from any person and permits the owner or pledgor to retain the possession thereof, or who, by any device or pretense of charging for his services, or otherwise, seeks to obtain a greater compensation than is authorized by this act.

Any person, and the several officers and employees of any corporation, who shall violate the foregoing prohibitions shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punishable by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars or by imprisonment of not more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court.

Any licensee and any officer or employee of a licensee who shall violate any of the provisions of section 2 of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punishable by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars or by imprisonment of not more than six months or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court.

No loan for which a greater rate of interest or charge than is allowed by this act has been contracted for or received, wherever made, shall be enforced in this state and any person in any wise participating therein in this state shall be subject to the provisions of this act.

SECT. 5. This act shall not apply to any person, co-partnership or corporation doing business under any law of this state or of the United States relating to banks, trust companies, or building and loan associations, or doing business under the supervision of the board of bank commissioners.

Amend section 1 of said bill by striking out the words "governor, with the advice and consent of the council," and by inserting in place thereof the words "secretary of state," and by inserting the word "state" before the word "treasurer" in line 8 of the printed bill, so that said section as amended shall read as follows:

If such warehouseman has made a reasonable effort to sell perishable or worthless property and has been unable to so do, he may dispose of it in any lawful manner, and shall not be liable for such disposition."

Amend section 13 by inserting the word "state" before the word "treasurer" wherever it occurs, so that said section as amended shall read as follows:

"SECT. 13. Such warehouseman shall, on demand, pay over the surplus of the proceeds of a sale authorized by section eleven to the person entitled thereto, but if it is not claimed within six months after such sale, he shall pay such surplus to the state treasurer and shall, at the same time,

SPECIAL ORDER.

Senator Belanger called for the special order, House Bill No. 265, An act to authorize the Connecticut River Power company of New Hampshire to transfer its properties, rights and franchises in this state.

The question being stated,

Shall the following amendment proposed by the committee be adopted?

Amend the bill by adding at the end two new sections to read as follows:

SECT. 7. If the said New England Power company at any time hereafter shall bring in a federal court or remove to a federal court on the ground of diverse citizenship any proceeding relating to the amount or validity of any tax assessed against said company by any city or town in this state all rights, privileges and franchises conferred by this act upon said company, in so far as they relate to its business carried on within this state, shall terminate and become forfeited, upon a judgment or decree of the superior court establishing the facts, in proceedings brought by the attorney-general against said company in the name of the state in any court of competent jurisdiction.

SECT. 8. Section 17, chapter 164, Laws of 1911, as amended by section 17, chapter 145, Laws of 1913, is hereby amended by striking out the words "apply to the transmitting of electrical energy generated from water powers upon the Connecticut river; nor shall they," so that said section as amended shall read as follows:

"SECT. 17. No corporation engaged in the generation of electrical energy by water power shall engage in the business of transmitting or conveying the same beyond the confines of the state unless it shall first file notice of its intention so to do with the public service commission and obtain an order of said commission permitting it to engage in such business. The commission may of its own motion or on application of any person, investigate or make inquiry, in a manner to be determined by it, as to the existence of an available market at fair rates within the state; and if it shall find that such a market does not exist within a reasonable distance of the power development, it may make an order granting such permission and may impose the condition that consumers within the state shall be furnished service by said corporation upon terms as favorable as shall be granted to consumers outside the state, having due regard to all facts and conditions which may affect said subject; provided, however, that nothing in this paragraph shall apply to corporations now engaged in the business of transmitting such electrical energy to any place outside the state, but any addition to such energy generated from any water power except such as it may be using in connection with such business at the date of the passage of this act, shall come under the provisions of this paragraph. Provided, further, that the provisions of this paragraph shall not prevent any railroad corporation doing business in this state from transmitting electrical energy beyond the confines of the state for the purpose of operating its road between some point in this state and any point or points outside the state."

Amend the title by adding the words "and to amend section 17, chapter 164, Laws of 1911, as inserted by section 17, chapter 145, Laws of 1913, relating to the business of transmitting electrical power beyond the limits of the state," so that said title as amended shall read as follows:

Senator Page of District No. 24 reported that the committee appointed to wait upon His Excellency, Rolland H. Spaulding, Governor, had attended to that duty and that His Excellency the Governor had a communication which he desired to make.

The Governor, attended by the Honorable Council, appeared and made the following address:

Members of the General Court of 1917:

You have informed me that your organization has been completed and that you are in readiness to receive any communication I may be pleased to make.

It is not my intention to occupy your time at any great length with a description of the activities of the state government during the past two years; nor to go into detail as to present conditions in the various state departments.

I shall not encroach upon the province of my successor by endeavoring to direct the general or specific course of your legislation.

But it does seem to me to be my duty as well as my privilege to tell you some things which two years as Governor have brought me to believe in regard to the best interests of the State of New Hampshire.

In my inaugural message of January 7, 1915, I expressed the hope that the affairs of the state might be administered as a business proposition.

That has been my constant endeavor in the two years of my administration; and I think that the results as submitted to you in the reports of the state treasurer and other officials, will show that the ideal has been, to some extent, at least, attained.

The fact that the state's fiscal year does not coincide with the calendar year, but ends August 31, must be taken into consideration. So far as state finances are concerned, my administration really began September 1, 1915, and will end September 1, 1917.

For that period New Hampshire's expenditures will not have exceeded her revenues. On the contrary, we shall have gained some ground. Our state is better off today, financially, than it was two years ago. It is one of the few states in the Union that has not gone farther into debt during that time.

We have tried to make every dollar do the work of one hundred cents. How far we have succeeded is for the people to judge.

At the same time we have not been niggardly in regard to our state institutions and our state expenses in general. We do not need to be and we should not be in the future.

We must take good care of our wards. We must have good schools and good roads. The things which it is necessary for us to do, we can afford to do and we should do and do without complaining.

As an ex-officio member of the boards of trustees of the State College, the state normal schools and Dartmouth College, I have attended the meetings of those boards and have become acquainted with the work those institutions are doing, so that I can appreciate fully its value.

I have taken personal part in making up the State College and normal school budgets which will be submitted to you for your approval, and equally as a citizen, an executive and a business man I believe that the appropriations asked for are reasonable and right and should be granted.

There are now at the New Hampshire College nearly 700 students, of whom 67 per cent were born in New Hampshire and 86 per cent are residents of New Hampshire. Of the total number of graduates in agriculture for the past fifteen years 60 per cent have remained in New Hampshire; and of the two-year-course graduates 81 per cent.

As the registrar of the college says in his annual report of these figures: "They show that we are reaching the hard-working young men and women and that they are making good both while at college and after graduation. They show that we are not engaged in the work of training men for professions in some far cities, but that the product of the school is going back into New Hampshire and into the rural districts from which they came."

In other words, the boys and girls are repaying the state richly for their education.

The great growth and splendid work of the State College do not lessen our debt or detract from our duty to Dartmouth College, and I believe it will be financially possible and a measure of justice to restore the state appropriation for Dartmouth to its former figure of $20,000 a year.

A few considerations as to the state's future policy, financial and otherwise, have impressed me as important and worthy of your attention:

The state carries no insurance upon its property. Therefore, it should set aside the amount which it would pay for insurance as a nest egg in the case of fires such as that which destroyed the large barn at the institution for the feeble-minded in Laconia last year.

Most of the state institutions have been inspected thoroughly during the past year by an expert on fire hazards, and the valuable suggestions which he made have been complied with in large part, so that the fire risks in these plants should be less now than ever before.

I believe that the state's policy in the past in regard to its trust funds has not been a wise one.

Those trust funds have been used up for current expenses and the amount of the income which would have been derived from them has been made a permanent charge upon the state treasury for which the people must be taxed forever, creating a liability that is an undeserved burden upon future generations.

During the past year the governor and council have made what we regard as a very satisfactory settlement with the other heirs of the late John Nesmith of Lowell, Mass., whereby the sum of $80,000 has been paid to the State of New Hampshire, the income to be used for the benefit of the indigent blind of the state.

If the custom of the past is followed, this money will soon go out of the state treasury in payment of the running expenses of the state government, leaving behind only the obligation to raise some thousands of dollars every year in order to provide the required aid for the objects of John Nesmith's generosity.

I believe that $80,000 should be set aside definitely, invested in certain designated securities and the income applied to the purposes of the bequest. I believe this policy should be followed henceforth in regard to all state trust funds and I hope you will give the matter your earnest attention.

Such action on the part of the state would set a desirable example for our cities and towns; and in this connection I bespeak your very careful consideration of a report which will be made to you by the state tax commission of its investigation into municipal finance and accounting in New Hampshire.

I believe it to be one of the most valuable pieces of work ever done by a state department; and I am proud that it should have had its origin in a recommendation of my inaugural message in which it was said:

"For the welfare and good repute of our commonwealth, it is necessary that not only the state's financial affairs, but those of the cities and towns, also, should be administered with good business methods. Are the cities and towns providing a sinking fund as required by the law to meet their bonded indebtedness as it becomes due? Have they any floating indebtedness in the nature of demand notes, and if so, how much, and for what purpose borrowed? Are their trust funds kept separate, or are they expended for current bills, the town merely assuming the payment of interest on them? Are the books of the cities and towns properly kept, so that an intelligent idea of their financial condition can be obtained easily?

"I recommend that this whole matter be investigated, either by a special committee or by the tax commission, and that such legislation on the subject as may be found necessary be recommended to the next General Court."

Such investigation was authorized by the Legislature of 1915 and was made by the state tax commission and its assistant, Mr. Edward C. Mabie.

It was found that unsound financial practices prevail to an almost alarming extent in New Hampshire municipalities. That no effective limit is placed upon the amount of indebtedness; that no provision for the ultimate payment of indebtedness is made in many instances and only inadequate provision in others; that the wise rule that bonds should not be issued for a longer period than the life of the improvement whose cost they are to defray, is too often neglected.

Following the recommendation in the inaugural message, the Legislature of 1915 passed an act, dealing with the trust fund situation in towns, which has much improved conditions in that respect, the commission finds, but which needs to be perfected and enforced.

An almost entire lack of uniformity in municipal accounting was discovered; but steps immediately taken to remedy this situation have had excellent success and it is to be hoped that the good work will go on without interruption. The result will be economy substituted for waste, knowledge for ignorance and credit for distrust. By following this policy the ultimate result must be an addition in the aggregate of hundreds of thousands of dollars to the financial strength of the cities and towns of the state.

I am sure that you will give earnest attention to this report of the tax commission and to its recommendations. It may seem to you wise to give the tax commission power to compel the adoption of a uniform system of accounting throughout the state and to require some sort of supervision by the commission of the investment of trust funds and the issue of bonds.

Personally, I am so impressed with the importance of this matter that I should be in favor of such amendment of the laws or even of the constitution, if that is necessary, as to make it impossible for the state or any of its municipal units to issue other than serial bonds.

Highway problems continue to be among the most important and interesting connected with the state administration. I am confident that good work has been done by the state highway department during the past two years and the governor and council feel well satisfied with the result of their practical exemplification of civil service by promoting a man in the department to fill the vacancy caused by the death of its chief.

The national highway aid law makes available to New Hampshire an increasing annual appropriation from the national treasury if certain conditions are met by the state. Believing it to be the part of wisdom for the state to do this, I have gone as far on this line as was possible without legislative action; and I hope you will see your way clear to confirming my action and pledging the state's full co-operation with the nation in the future.

The recent election brought to light the fact that there was no law upon the statute books under which the votes of the state's soldiers out of the state in the service of the country could be cast and counted. It did not seem to me advisable to call an extra session of the Legislature to pass such a law; but certainly this should be done by this General Court.

In the course of proceedings after the election it was made evident that while election officials in New Hampshire are in general very accurate in their counting and declaration of votes, they do not in many cases live up as carefully as they should to the provisions of the law covering the care of ballots and the making of the required official returns.

You can consider whether any additional legislation is needed on this head or merely a more strict enforcement of existing statutes.

When the time came for the state to make a new contract with the Boston & Maine Railroad for the transportation of you gentlemen, and of certain state officials, I examined the matter carefully and became convinced that I ought not to ask the railroad to renew the contract at the old figure, a lower rate than is being granted to any other patrons of the road under similar conditions.

I did not think the state ought to be put in the position of asking and receiving a favor from the railroad.

Therefore, at my request, the secretary of state arranged with the railroad for the issuance on the state's account of regular instead of special tickets, on the same terms given to the general public for the same kind and amount of service. This increases the cost to the state, but I cannot feel that any other course would have been just and right.

The conditions under which most of these tickets are issued are such, that the more often you use them the less is the proportionate cost of travel. So that, if you should improve upon the record of recent Legislatures and work four days, or even three days, a week, the cost for transportation would not be much more than in the past; and would be more than made up by the saving to the state in the lessened length of the session.

At the session of 1915 I was impressed with the way in which the Judiciary Committees of the House and Senate were overworked, while some of the other committees had little or nothing to do. There are among you many veteran legislators who can speak with more authority than I can as to the possibility of improving this condition by a more general distribution of business or by the creation of two judiciary committees.

It is apparent that you gentlemen will have an unusual amount of important business brought before you for consideration at this session of the Legislature. I am sure that in acting upon it you will regard only the best interests of the state you have sworn to serve.

This has been the one principle upon which the occupant of the executive chair during the past two years has endeavored to act. The oath of office which I took in January, 1915, never has been absent from my mind while I have transacted the state's business; and I have tried in every instance of an appointment to office to secure for the state's service or to retain in it men who would serve the commonwealth ably and devotedly.

On motion of Senator Hardy of District No. 12,—

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed by the Chair to wait upon the Hon. Henry W. Keyes and inform him officially of his election as Governor of the State of New Hampshire, and that the Senate and House of Representatives are ready to receive any communication from His Excellency at such time as he may desire.

The chairman named as such committee, Senators Hardy of District No. 12 and Martin of District No. 15, and Messrs. Fairbanks of Manchester, Wheeler of Nashua and Wesley of Dover.

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed by the Chair to wait upon Miles W. Gray, Charles W. Varney, Moise Verrette, William D. Swart and Edward H. Carroll and inform them officially of their election to the Honorable Council.

IN CONVENTION.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

The Honorable Senate then came in and, the two branches being in convention, Senator Hardy of District No. 12, for the committee appointed to wait upon the Hon. Henry W. Keyes and inform him officially of his election as governor of the State of New Hampshire, reported that it had attended to its duty; that the governor-elect had accepted said office, and would meet the Senate and House of Representatives in convention at the earliest convenient time to take the oath of office and make such communication as he deemed proper.

The report was accepted.

Carroll of their election as members of the Honorable Council, reported that it had attended to its duty, and that the gentlemen named accepted the office to which they had been elected.

The report was accepted.

On motion of Senator Maxwell of District No. 16,—

Resolved, That the Chair appoint a committee of three, consisting of one senator and two representatives, to escort the Governor and Governor-elect to the House of Representatives.

The chairman appointed as such committee, Senator Maxwell of District No. 16 and Messrs. Woodbury of Manchester and Tilton of Tilton.

The Governor, Governor-elect and the Honorable Council then came in, and the Honorable Henry W. Keyes, Governor, then took and subscribed the oath of office and the oath of allegiance before the President of the Senate and in the presence of both branches of the Legislature, whereupon the Hon. Jesse M. Barton, President of the Senate, made proclamation as follows:

Henry W. Keyes, having been duly elected Governor of New Hampshire, accepted the office and taken the oath prescribed by the constitution, I do therefore declare and proclaim His Excellency, Henry W. Keyes, Governor of the State of New Hampshire, to hold the office during the period prescribed by the constitution and laws of the state, and I present Your Excellency with a copy of the constitution of the state as a guide in the discharge of your official duties.

His Excellency then read the following message:

Senators and Members of the House of Representatives:

We are assembled in this historic capitol to enact new laws, to repeal old laws and to amend existing statutes, to such an extent and in such ways as will conserve the best interests of the State of New Hampshire.

Many important matters demand our attention and require careful, thoughtful, thorough investigation and consideration before final action is taken upon them.

Above all things, let us try to avoid hasty, imperfect, half-done legislation.

At the same time, it is the desire of the people, and I am sure that it is our desire as well, that the duration of this session should be reasonably brief.

Slowly, but surely, the number of working days in each legislative week has been reduced, until, in recent years, it has not been possible to depend upon the presence in the House of enough members for the transaction of business on more than two full days of each week.

The time has come to check this tendency.

It also is desirable that the consideration of the more important items of legislation should be begun early in the session and pressed to a decision, so that there may not be a dangerous congestion of business just before final adjournment.

PROGRESSIVE MEASURES.

During the past decade, New Hampshire has made an admirable record for constructive and progressive legislation. Our state has been in the front rank as regards the enactment of laws for clean politics, good government and the welfare of all the people.

But we must not rest content with what has been done.

In the state's business, as in our own, we always must be alert for new ideas, needed improvements, increased efficiency. Surer justice and higher standards must be our continuing aim.

Several lines of activity and progress in other states have come to my notice, which I will mention as worthy of your attention, although I am not prepared to make specific recommendations in regard to them at this time.

At the recent conference of governors in Washington, one of the principal topics discussed was the executive budget, a schedule of needed appropriations, compared with probable revenue, to be carefully prepared by the governor and his advisers and submitted at the beginning of the session for the use and advice of the Legislature in its duty of levying taxes and authorizing expenditures.

An interesting and thorough study of this idea has been made in the State of Maryland under the direction of President Goodnow of Johns Hopkins University, and the plan there adopted might well be the subject of your consideration here.

The short ballot is meeting with increasing favor throughout the country. New Hampshire stands in less need of this reform than do some other states, but you may find some of its principles worthy of application here.

During the past year there has been a remarkable development of interest in universal workmen's health insurance in this country. In January, 1916, the first bills were introduced in three states, and in two of the states, California and Massachusetts, official commissions will report in favor of health insurance legislation this year.

Reliable statistics show that each of the thirty million wage-earners in this country loses on an average nine days a year from sickness at a cost for medical attendance of $180,000,000 a year and a loss of wages of $500,000,000.

This tremendous tax upon slender resources certainly presents a problem that demands attention.

Efficiency and economy commissions have accomplished useful results in several states during the recent past. There may be a field for such an investigation in New Hampshire.

The further extension of suffrage to women is a question demanding and deserving our attention. It is safe to say that you will be fully supplied with information and will have heard able and comprehensive arguments on both sides of the question, before you are called upon to vote in the matter. From your verdict, as finally rendered, the executive does not expect to dissent.

Upon some subjects of social and economic progress, the public opinion of the state, which you here represent, seems to have crystallized favorably for immediate action.

I believe that the hours of labor for women and children should be limited to 54 hours a week by action of this Legislature.

I believe you should pass a law for factory inspection, providing for the safeguarding of dangerous machinery and creating better working conditions. One of the inspectors under this law should be a woman with practical knowledge of the conditions under which women work in the mills and factories of New Hampshire.

Such a law might be expected to be a great factor in the elimination of industrial accidents and would place New Hampshire on the same footing in this respect as the other New England states.

The practical application of our workmen's compensation and employers' liability law does not give satisfaction. It should be so amended as to bring about more prompt determination of claims, particularly the smaller claims, and the elimination of a too great burden of expense upon the workman in securing his rights. An equitable distribution of the cost of industrial accidents is the end to be sought.

Further progress in the great movement for child welfare is desirable; and I hope you will look with favor upon bills which will be presented to you, providing for the control by the state board of charities of the placing of dependent children in private homes and their supervision in those homes; also, the amendment of the juvenile court law, so that neglected children can be committed by the court directly into the care of the state board. This subject of child welfare should be very near to every heart and should be promoted in every practical way possible to legislation.

STATE DEPARTMENTS.

I will not go into detail at this time in regard to the condition of the state treasury or the work of the different departments of the state government. The reports of their various heads will give you full and accurate information, and each and every one of them deserves the careful attention which I ask you to give them.

It is sufficient for me to say now that I believe New Hampshire is fortunate in the character and the ability of the men who administer her various governmental activities. Many of them render service to the state far beyond the financial recompense they receive.

As an excellent example of the good work these departments do, I wish to refer you to the report of the tax commission upon its special investigation, authorized by the Legislature of 1915, into municipal accounting and finance. I hope the citizens of the state generally will acquaint themselves with this document and consider seriously its findings and recommendations; and I hope that you gentlemen will do what you can to assist the towns and cities of the state in putting their finances upon a sounder basis.

It is especially desirable that all municipal accounts be kept with a uniformity which will make them readily available sources of reliable information upon the condition of local finances. The public interests and the public purse will thus be safeguarded as they are not now. If given power of supervision over the keeping of accounts, issue of securities and investment of trust funds by towns and cities,

I am sure the tax commission would exercise that power wisely and to the public benefit.

STATE FINANCES.

The good work done by the Legislature of 1915 in keeping its appropriations within the limits of the state's revenues and the wise economies and good business management of Governor Spaulding and his executive council have resulted in an excellent present condition of New Hampshire finances.

Unlike most other states, we have not gone further into debt during the past two years, but, on the contrary, we have reduced somewhat our net liabilities, and that without neglecting our duty to the state's wards or being parsimonious in any respect.

This Legislature should, and I am sure will, continue the careful economy which underlies our financial good standing.

At the same time, it will be your duty to keep the future as well as the present in mind, and to provide wisely for the New Hampshire of tomorrow as well as of today. This applies particularly to our highways, to our schools and to our state institutions.

We must not put dollars above human welfare. The charitable, correctional and humanitarian institutions which the state has established must be maintained on an efficient and worthy scale; which means, in most cases, an increasing amount of expenditures.

We have learned by experience that the first cost of these institutions is but a bagatelle compared with what comes after; and for this reason we must be conservative in entering upon new lines of this work, however desirable they may seem. There is great need for the segregation of feeble-minded women of child-bearing age, but to what extent we can proceed in this matter at this time is for you to consider and decide.

HIGHWAYS.

The almost universal demand for good roads, and for state aid in their construction and maintenance, when taken in connection with the resources of the state treasury, presents one of our hardest problems.

The present situation, very briefly stated, is this: Six trunk lines, comprising 720 miles of state highways, were supposed to have been completed by the appropriations made by the Legislature of 1915. But because of labor conditions and for other reasons there are still thirty-five miles of these lines to build.

The Legislature of 1915 also laid out for construction eleven new trunk line highways across the state, aggregating 451 miles in length. On these routes 150 miles of state road have been built, under the state aid act.

The state commissioner of highways estimates that all these state roads can be completed in six years by the appropriation of $200,000 a year, and that does not seem to me too great a burden to assume.

By the provisions of the act of Congress for federal aid in the construction of roads, the State of New Hampshire, if it complies with the prescribed conditions, can secure from the national treasury, in round numbers, twenty thousand dollars for the year 1916, forty thousand dollars for 1917, sixty thousand dollars for 1918, eighty thousand dollars for 1919 and one hundred thousand dollars for 1920.

In order to get this aid, the State of New Hampshire must expend an equal amount, dollar for dollar, from its treasury, upon the same projects. To do this, a special appropriation of $60,000, to cover the federal aid for 1916 and 1917 will be necessary. After that, the amount to be thus expended is included in the commissioner's estimate of $200,000 a year.

Governor Spaulding gave such assent as was in his power, prior to the assembling of the Legislature, to this co-operation of state and nation.

While I am upon the subject of roads, let me say that I believe the time has come for a thorough revision of all the New Hampshire statutes governing the use of our highways. Practically all of these laws were enacted before the days of motor vehicles, and, therefore, in many ways they are not adapted to meet present conditions.

It is especially to be desired that the matter of the liability of towns in case of accidents on the highways be more clearly defined. In this same connection, I would cite with approval the suggestion made to me by the commissioner of motor vehicles for the establishment of such police or inspection service as will better safeguard the users of our highways against the danger from reckless and incompetent operators, and make it more difficult for owners of motor vehicles, both local and foreign, to evade their just share of the burden of maintaining our improved highways.

This suggestion leads naturally to a consideration of the possible necessity for the establishment in New Hampshire of a force of state constabulary.

For a long time, there has been a demand in some sections for such a body of men, limited in number, but expert and efficient in the performance of their duties, who should render both general and specific aid to the local authorities in the enforcement of law and order, and should have certain functions to perform, under the direction of the attorney-general, in connection with the various departments of the state government.

An urgent reason for the creation of such a force would be furnished if the present uncertainty in regard to the future of the National Guard should end with the state authority unsupported by any military force. This contingency is worthy of your consideration.

ABSENTEE VOTING.

From all accounts, our New Hampshire National Guardsmen are doing themselves and their state much credit during their service for the federal government near the Mexican border.

It is deeply to be regretted that these soldiers were disfranchised at the recent election; and I am sure that you will enact some legislation at this session which will prevent, in this state, the recurrence of such a condition.

It has been called to my attention that others of our citizens were unable to exercise their right of suffrage on election day because of unavoidable absence from the state; a condition which may arise often for railroad men, commercial travelers, those in the theatrical business, and others. If you find it advisable to pass a general law for absentee voting, such as half a dozen other states now have, you will gain the gratitude of these classes of our citizens.

AGRICULTURE.

I hope some way may be found in which this Legislature can further the agricultural interests of New Hampshire.

It is to me an alarming fact that in the half century from 1860 to 1910, while the population of New England was increasing from 3,110,572 to 6,552,681, the area of improved farm lands under cultivation shrank from 12,215,771 to 7,112,698.

This section of the country should produce its own food supply; but, as a matter of fact, New England is only 25 per cent self-sustaining. The other 75 per cent of its food comes from without its borders.

New Hampshire should feed herself and help to feed Greater Boston. How far we are from doing it you all know.

To use the words of another, "Our manufacturing industries have been built up at the expense of the basic element of all industry,—agriculture. For generations, men of talent have studied how to make the cities greater and more prosperous and have given almost no thought to the people on the farms, without whom the cities would perish."

If New England manufactures are to continue to prosper and if those employed in them are to continue the manner of living to which they have become accustomed, then there must be a greater production of food supplies within easy reach of the manufacturing centers.

This is New England's agricultural opportunity. She has the land, the markets, the people. All she needs is organization, co-operation, inspiration, among the farmers themselves.

The Legislature of 1915 made small appropriations for the encouragement of various branches of agriculture, for agricultural exhibits at fairs, for the state horticultural society, for the assistance of the sheep breeders' association. It was money well spent and I hope that we can do more on these lines this year.

The establishment of a bureau of markets in connection with the state board of agriculture is a suggestion worthy of your careful consideration.

I believe that in our State College at Durham we have a valuable agency for the advancement and uplift of agriculture in New Hampshire. The recent rapid growth of the college and its splendid present condition indicate that it has found its place in our educational system and that its future is assured if the state gives it proper financial support. This, I hope and trust, will be forthcoming.

While it is not a subject for legislative action, it may not be improper for me to express the hope that in some way all the various agencies now seeking earnestly and honestly to benefit New Hampshire agriculture may be brought into effective co-operation.

Such action would be of the greatest benefit to the state.

EDUCATION.

Similarly, I would like to see a closer connection between the three peaks of our educational range, New Hampshire College, Dartmouth College and the public school system of the state.

Of the institution at Durham I have spoken.

Dartmouth College has played a large and honorable and useful part in New Hampshire's past, and the college is a more potent agency today than ever before for the benefit of state and nation.

As a personal friend and admirer of Dartmouth, it will give me pleasure if you find it possible to restore the state's appropriation for the college to its former figure.

The report of our state superintendent of public instruction is a comprehensive and valuable consideration of the improvement in our schools, what they now are accomplishing, what they still need and what should be done in order to give all our boys and girls a fair start in life. There is in it much material for thought and action on your part.

The fact that 80 per cent of our school children are now under skilled supervision impresses us with the thought that the injustice being done the other 20 per cent of our boys and girls by giving them inferior educational opportunities should be remedied. The best possible schools for all our children, in the country as well as in the city, should be our watchword.

The administration of the mother's aid law by this department has been highly successful and that this measure is useful and beneficial seems assured.

CONSERVATION.

One of our state bureaus which does its excellent work with such quiet efficiency as not to attract the attention which it deserves from the public, is the forestry department. Its appropriations are modest and its beneficial results in protecting our timber supply, reforesting waste areas and on other lines of education and action are worthy of comment.

Just now it is engaged in a battle with the white pine blister rust in which it will need your assistance.

Some changes in the taxation clauses of the constitution of the state are sought by those who are interested in the future of our forests; and doubtless this need was one of the reasons why the people voted in November to instruct this General Court to call such a convention.

While we are thus endeavoring to conserve our forests as they stand, we are doing little or nothing to conserve them after they have been felled and sawed and built into our houses.

Insurance Commissioner Merrill says that while two million dollars worth of property goes up in smoke every year in New Hampshire, very few of these fires ever are properly and thoroughly investigated; such investigation being the necessary first step towards fire prevention. I heartily endorse his recommendation that an appropriation for the investigation of fire losses be given to the insurance department.

A water power survey of the state is another suggestion in the line of conservation which probably will come before you for consideration.

As you will see, I have touched upon only a few of the many problems you will be called upon to solve in the next few weeks.

Some of the most troublesome may make their appearance almost without warning; others which we can foresee are not now in a condition to be considered definitely.

The direct primary election law has not proved entirely satisfactory in its workings. If some change can be made that will give us a system less cumbersome and expensive in operation, it would meet with general approval.

The proposed re-organization of the Boston & Maine Railroad corporation is a matter which affects almost every citizen of New Hampshire in one way or another, and which is of great importance to the state as a state, as well as to its people and its industries.

If legislation is asked of you in this connection, it will be your duty to protect the rights of the state and the property of its citizens, and at the same time to take a broad view of the transportation needs, present and future, of all New England.

Probably there is no more important question before the people of this country today for consideration than that of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor. While we are looking forward to national prohibition as the solution of this problem, my belief, based upon many years of experience on the state license commission, is that for us to make any radical change at just this time in our present law would be attended by doubtful results.

In conclusion, allow me to congratulate you upon the large number of experienced legislators who are included in your numbers; thus making it possible for the legislative machinery to operate smoothly from the very start.

And I wish to express the hope that at this session of the General Court there may be cordial co-operation between the legislative and executive branches of the state government, with a view to the best interests of the Commonwealth.

To bring this about and to serve the state, and the state alone, to the best of my ability, will be my one purpose.

RULES OF THE HOUSE.

OF THE DUTY OF THE SPEAKER.

1. The Speaker shall take the chair at precisely the hour to which the House shall have adjourned, and shall immediately call the members to order.

2. He shall preserve decorum and order, may speak on points of order in preference to other members, rising from his seat for that purpose, and shall decide questions of order, subject to an appeal to the House by any two members.

3. Questions shall be distinctly put in this form, to wit: "As many as are of opinion that (as the case may be) say aye;" and after the affirmative vote is expressed, "Those of a contrary opinion say No." If the Speaker doubts or a division is called for, the House shall divide. Those in the affirmative of the question shall first rise from their seats and shall stand till they be counted, and afterwards those in the negative shall rise and stand till they be counted. The Speaker shall then rise and state the decision of the House.

4. He shall rise to put a question, but may state it sitting.

5. All committees shall be appointed by the Speaker unless otherwise directed by the House.

6. The Speaker shall designate to which of the standing committees all memorials, petitions, accounts, or other matters shall be referred, unless otherwise ordered by the House.

7. The Speaker shall not be called upon to vote unless the House be equally divided, or unless his vote, if given to the minority, will make the division equal; and in case of such equal division the question shall be lost.

8. All acts, addresses, and joint resolutions shall be assigned by the Speaker; and all writs, warrants or subpoenas, issued by order of the House, shall be under his hand and seal attested by the clerk.

9. In case of any disturbance or disorderly conduct in the galleries, the Speaker or chairman of the committee of the whole House shall have the power to order the same to be cleared.

10. No person but the members and officers of the House, members of the council, and members of the Senate, the secretary of the state, treasurer, and clerks of the Senate shall be admitted within the door of the Representatives' chamber unless by invitation of the Speaker, or some member of the House with the consent of the Speaker, except in public hearings, parties, their counsel and witnesses, under the direction of the Speaker.

11. The Speaker shall have power to substitute any member to perform the duties of the chair, such substitution not to extend beyond one legislative day.

OF DECORUM AND DEBATE.

12. When any member is about to speak in debate, make a motion, or deliver any matter to the House, he shall rise from his seat and respectfully address himself to the Speaker.

13. If any member transgress the rules of the House, the Speaker shall, or any member may, call him to order; in which case the member so called to order shall immediately sit down, and the question of order shall then be distinctly stated from the chair; and in all cases where a member shall be called to order for uttering disrespectful words, upon the request of any member the words objected to shall be reduced to writing by the member so calling to order; after which the member so called to order may explain, and the question shall be open to debate, as in other cases, and decided by the Speaker, whose decision shall be submitted to unless an appeal be made to the House, by a member, in which case the only question shall be, "Is the Speaker's decision correct?" which shall be decided without debate. If the decision be in favor of the member called to order, he may proceed; if otherwise, and the case may require it, he shall be liable to the censure of the House.

14. In all cases the member first rising shall speak first.

When two members rise at the same time, the Speaker shall name the person to speak.

15. No member shall speak more than twice on the same question without leave of the House; nor more than once until every member choosing to speak shall have spoken.

16. While the Speaker is putting any question, or addressing the House, no one shall walk out of or across the House; nor in such case, or when a member is speaking, shall entertain private discourse; nor, while a member is speaking shall pass between him and the chair; nor shall any member leave his seat while the yeas and nays are calling.

17. No member shall vote on any question in the event of which he is directly interested; nor in any case where he was not present when the question was put; nor sit upon any committee when he is directly interested in the question under consideration. In case of such interest of a member of a committee, the fact shall be reported to the House, and another person substituted on that question in his place.

18. Every member who shall be in the House when a question is put shall give his vote, unless the House, for special reason, shall excuse him.

19. No motion shall be debated until the same shall be seconded and stated from the chair; and when a motion shall be made and seconded, it shall be reduced to writing, if desired by the Speaker or any member, and delivered at the table, and read by the Speaker, before the same shall be debated.

20. No petition shall be received by the House unless it be presented by a member thereof, nor until the substance of said petition be concisely minuted, and the name of the member, and the town he represents, recorded upon the back thereof; and it shall be the duty of the Speaker to state, in the first place, the substance of the petition as minuted on the back thereof.

21. After a motion is stated by the Speaker, it shall be in possession of the House, but may be withdrawn at any time before an amendment.

22. When any question is under debate, no motion shall be received, but first, to adjourn; second, to lay on the table; third, for the previous question; fourth, to postpone indefinitely; fifth, to postpone to a certain day; sixth, to commit; seventh, to amend; which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are arranged. Motions to adjourn, to lay on the table, for the previous question, and to take from the table, shall be decided without debate.

23. The Speaker shall put the previous question in the following form: "Shall the main question now be put?" and all debate upon the main question shall be suspended until the previous question has been decided. After the adoption of the previous question, the sense of the House shall forthwith be taken upon pending amendments, in their regular order, and then upon the main question. The motion for the previous question shall not be put unless demanded by three members.

24. All incidental questions of order arising after a motion for the previous question and related to the subjects affected by the order of the previous question shall be decided without debate.

25. If the previous question is decided in the negative, it shall not be again in order until after adjournment, but the main question shall be left before the House and disposed of as though the previous question had not been put.

26. When a question is postponed indefinitely, the same shall not be acted upon during the session except by unanimous consent.

27. Any member may call for a division of the question when the sense will admit of it; and upon a motion to amend, a refusal to strike out words shall neither preclude amendment to such words nor a motion to strike out and insert.

28. A motion for commitment, until it is decided, shall preclude all amendment to the main question, and all motions and reports may be committed at the pleasure of the House.

29. No new motion shall be admitted, under color of amendment, as a substitute for the motion under debate.

30. No vote shall be reconsidered, unless the motion for reconsideration be made by a member who voted with the majority, nor unless the notice of such motion be given on the same day on which the vote passed, or on the next day on which the House shall be in session, between the hours of 10 and 12 o'clock.

31. When the reading of a paper is called for and objected to by any member it shall be determined by a vote of the House.

32. Any member may excuse himself from serving on any committee at the time of his appointment, if he is then a member of two other committees which have not reported.

33. Each member shall seasonably and punctually attend to his duty in the House, and no one shall absent himself from the service of the House unless he have leave, or be sick and unable to attend.

The first reading shall be for information; and thereupon if it be not rejected or otherwise disposed of by the House, the question shall be, "Shall the bill be read a second time?" and if ordered to a second reading it shall immediately be read a second time

45. Every bill shall be marked on the first page "House bill," and every joint resolution shall be marked "House joint resolution," and each bill and resolution shall be regularly numbered, beginning with No. 1, and continuing consecutively, as each bill or joint resolution is introduced into the House.

Bills and joint resolutions received from the Senate shall be printed at the same stage of their procedure unless they have been printed in the Senate and copies distributed in the House.

47. When a bill or joint resolution is reported favorably with an amendment, the report of the committee shall state the amendment and then recite the section of the bill or

STATEMENT.

Hon. Arthur P. Morrill, Speaker of the House of Representatives,

Concord, N. H.

DEAR SIR:

Complying with the resolution adopted by the House on January 23, 1917, I beg leave to submit the following statement:

The resolution asked first for a detailed statement of receipts and expenditures for the year ending August 31, 1917. This it is impossible to give until the close of the year,—the receipts can only be estimated, and such estimates in detail can be found in the treasurer's statement of January 1, 1917, which the members of the House already have. The receipts—namely, the income—vary but little from year to year, usually increasing slightly—and are given by the treasurer for year ending August 31, 1917, as follows:

INCOME FOR 1916-1917.

State tax	$750,000
All other revenue receipts	1,418,535
Total income	<hr/> $2,168,535

Included in said Estimated Income are as follows:

State Hospital	60,000

State Sanatorium	3,450
Industrial School	1,600
Total	<hr/> $106,050

The appropriations made January Session, 1915, by the "Budget" for the year ending August 31, 1917, for the maintenance of said institutions, were made for the net amount required, the receipts having been deducted from the gross expenditures. By chapter 154, Laws of 1913, receipts of the institutions are turned into the state treasury, and can be drawn back, in addition to the "Budget" appropriations for the year. The said estimate of $106,050 should be added to appropriations. I, therefore, add to estimated expenditures (Appropriations).

The above estimates do not include any Special appropriations. The increase called for, for departments and institutions, amounts to half a million dollars ($491,207), and leaves for highways and other much needed purposes, only $380,000. The highway department will need, in order to meet the requirements of the "Federal Aid Act," a larger sum than usual,—estimated by the commissioner at $400,000, for the two years. This more than uses up the surplus income unless the requests are very materially cut down. There are institutions calling for aid, and some of them should have it.

The total specials (see list annexed) call for $3,968,622.

Query comes,—How shall we meet it?

I have talked with many members about it; I do not find any in favor of an increased state tax. A bond issue is not desirable on present market, if at all, and the alternative is to cut down expenses. I would suggest that you carefully examine the list of annexed estimates, see what is most needed—what is really needed—and cut out a large percentage of the specials asked for.

The population of New Hampshire has increased only five per cent, for the last ten years, and the "Budget Bill" (expenses) has increased one hundred per cent. In 1910 it was $980,000 and now over $2,000,000 is asked for for 1918.

I believe the Appropriation Committee, which is unusually strong,—and awake to the situation,—will do its full duty, if the House shows that it will stand behind it and sustain its action.

Our expenditures should be within our income, just as every individual's should be.

Annexed find list of special appropriations asked for, as per your request.

OPINION OF SUPREME COURT.

Agreeably to a request transmitted to the supreme court by the Speaker requesting an opinion upon the following questions arising under Article 36 of Part First of the Constitution:

1. Can the legislature authorize the granting of old age pensions, for one year at a time, to be paid either (a) by the state or (b) by any political subdivision thereof?

2. Do the restrictions in the article as to "actual services" and as to "one year at a time" apply to political subdivisions of the state as well as to the state itself?

3. Can the legislature, at one session thereof, authorize the granting of a pension for a year, and by a separate act authorize the granting of a like pension for another year?

the following opinion was rendered:

To the House of Representatives:

Part First of the Constitution commonly called the Bill of Rights is a statement of reservations made by the grantors of public power. "The reservation precedes the grant. Before they create . . . the supreme legislative power in the second article, and before they form themselves into a state in the first article, they lay the foundation and therein reserve those personal liberties, which upon the evidence of history and their own experience they think can not safely be surrendered to government." State v. Express Co., 60 N. H. 219, 250. Article 36, Part I of the Constitution, to which our attention is called in the resolution requesting our opinions is a reservation or exception out of the supreme legislative power granted by Article 2 of Part II.

It reads as follows:

"Economy being a most essential virtue in all states, especially in a young one, no pension shall be granted but in consideration of actual services: and such pensions ought to be granted with great caution by the legislature, and never for more than one year at a time."

The New Hampshire Bill of Rights is mainly a copy of the Massachusetts Bill of 1780, but no article is therein found corresponding to the one now under consideration. The first clause of Article 6 of the Massachusetts document is, "No man, nor corporation, or association of men, have any other title to obtain advantages, or particular and exclusive privileges, distinct from those of the community, than what arises from the consideration of services rendered the public." There is no historical evidence known to be in existence bearing upon the possible connection of the two clauses or of any special reason for the New Hampshire form. All the evidence of meaning is that furnished by the words of the document. If any doubt which can be aided by construction can be suggested as to the meaning or application of the Massachusetts language none can be as to the words of the New Hampshire copy. Pensions can not be granted except in consideration of actual services and never for more than one year at a time. A pension ordinarily suggests the idea of a bounty or reward for service rendered but the term might include a grant which was a mere gratuity. Price v. Society of Savings, 64 Conn. 362; Bowyer's Law Dict.; Webster's Dict., Title Pensions. This latter is expressly excluded. Pensions are not to be granted except in return for services which are fairly describable as actual, not constructive, or imaginary.

The resolution furnishes no information as to what is intended by the term "old age pensions." It is doubtful if the expression has as yet been so clearly defined that we can give a categorical answer to the first question as to the power of the legislature to grant "old age pensions" without some risk of misunderstanding. It will doubtless serve the purpose of the inquiry for us to state that in our opinion the legislature can grant no pension to a recipient whose right thereto is ascertainable upon any other ground than the performance of actual service to the public. If "old age pensions" means pensions, the right to which depends upon age alone, our answer is in the negative.

The reservation of the Bill of Rights made upon the ground of economy, "a most essential virtue in all states, especially in a young one" limiting the pension granting power to one year at a time was intended to prevent the creation of obligations extending perhaps beyond the time when there was reason for the grant. The implication is that the pension grantable for one year was not renewable until the year had expired; when the need and propriety of the pension could be again examined and the grant renewed only "with great caution."

It is not probable any one would argue that this restriction could be avoided by the passage at the same time of separate bills for different years. Laws, 1915, cc. 165, 166; House Jour., April 21, 1915, p. 1008. But it is argued that the constitutional change made by the convention of 1876 from annual to biennial sessions of the legislature necessarily implies a change in this section from one to two years because otherwise the legislature would be deprived of the power of so granting a pension that annual payment could be made which it formerly possessed. But whatever change was made in the grant of power in 1876, there was no change in the reservation of the Bill of Rights "which according to the testimony of its makers, 'is the foundation on which the whole political fabric is reared.' " State v. Express Co., 60 N. H. 219, 250; 9 N. H. State Papers, 851, 881. The convention of 1850 proposed biennial elections and sessions and also submitted an amendment changing one year to two years in Article 36, Part I, the same being Article 37, Part I of the Constitution, then submitted and rejected. Colby, Manual of the Constitution, 1902, p. 197; ib. (1912), p. 181.

The failure to take like precaution in 1876 is easily explainable. In the eleven years that had elapsed since the Civil War the idea of pensions was associated with the Federal Government. The United States granted pensions. No evidence has been discovered that the state had ever granted a pension. The Index to the Laws of New Hampshire contains no entry under that title. A payment for one year was considered the allowance of a claim, not a granting of a pension as pensions were commonly understood. Federal pensions were for life as commonly granted. The prohibition of the constitution was practically a prohibition of all pensions as the term was understood. It is not probable it occurred to any one that occasion for the granting of pensions by the state would ever arise. It is certain no one then regarded the matter of sufficient importance to suggest a constitutional change. The inference from the failure to suggest a change in Article 36, Part I, in 1876 is that no change was then desired nor that a change was made in a provision to which it does not appear attention was directed.

As the legislature may grant a pension for only one year at a time, legislation in the same year, whether in one bill or several, granting in the whole pensions to the same persons for more than one year is beyond legislative power, and wholly void. We answer the third question also in the negative.

The non-delegable character of the law-making power vested in the legislature is subject to the exception that limited powers of local legislation may be conferred upon minor subdivisions of the state. Willoughby v. Holderness, 62 N. H. 227; State v. Hayes, 60 N. H. 264. "But in the nature of things such legislation must not be inconsistent with the laws of the state." State v. Noyes, 30 N. H. 279, 293. The local legislation of towns and cities is equally subject to a reservation made before any legislative power was granted. Obviously the legislature can not delegate a power it does not possess. Cities, towns, school-districts are merely as described in the resolution "political subdivisions of the state" made for the convenient administration of the government: they are "component parts of the state and aggregately taken are the state." Wooster v. Plymouth, 62 N. H. 193, 208, 209. Because there is no exception of the power of local legislation from the general reservation limiting the pension granting power of the state, the second inquiry is answered in the affirmative.

"(f) After a hearing and investigation, either upon complaint or on its own motion, the commission may establish joint services to be participated in by two or more railroad corporations, or by two or more telephone utilities whose lines or wires form a continuous line of communication, or could be made to do so by the construction and maintenance of suitable connections or by the joint use of equipment or the transfer of messages at common points, between different localities which cannot be communicated with or reached by the lines of either of such utilities alone, or by such lines and other lines with which suitable connections are maintained, and may ascertain, determine and fix just and reasonable rates, fares, charges, prices, classifications and rules and regulations relating thereto, which shall thereafter be demanded, collected, enforced, and observed by such railroad corporations or telephone utilities. The commission may prescribe the division of such joint rates, fares, charges, prices and classifications between railroad corporations or telephone utilities joining in such services whenever such division shall not be made by agreement; and any division agreed upon shall be subject to revision by the commission if found to be inconsistent with the public interest, provided, that in establishing such through route, the commission shall not require any railroad corporation, without its consent, to embrace in such route substantially less than the entire length of its railroad and of any intermediate railroad operated in conjunction and under a common management or control therewith which lies between the termini of such proposed through route, unless to do so would make such through route unreasonably long as compared with another practicable through route which could otherwise be established."

and any existing or contemplated track, tracks or railroad of such corporation, person or municipal corporation, shall make such connection and provide such switches and tracks as may be necessary for that purpose and deliver and receive cars thereover, provided that such connection is reasonably practicable and can be installed and used without materially increasing the hazard of the operation of the railroad with which such connection is sought, and that the business which may reasonably be expected to be received by such railroad company over such connection is sufficient to justify the expense of such connection to such railroad company."

Amend the second sentence of section 6 by striking out the words "and class" in line 25 of the printed bill and by adding after the word "securities" in said line 25, the words "of the class petitioned for," so that said sentence as amended shall read as follows:

On motion of Mr. Curtis of Concord, the rules were suspended and the bill in its new draft read a first time by its title. The bill was then read a second time, laid upon the table to be printed and recommitted to the Committee on Labor.

Mr. Barnes of Lyme, for the Committee on Public Improvements, to whom was referred House Bill No. 245, An act to establish the Contoocook Valley highway, reported the same with the following amendments, and the recommendation that the bill as amended ought to pass:

Amend section 3 by striking out the word "town" in line 6 of the printed bill and inserting in place thereof the word "towns"; further amend said section by inserting after the word "Peterborough" in said line 6 the words "and Hopkinton," so that said section as amended shall read as follows:

"SECT. 3. No city or town through which such highway is designated to pass shall receive any state aid for highway improvements except on such highway until said improvements shall have been completed within such city or town; provided, however, that nothing in this section shall prevent the towns of Peterborough and Hopkinton from receiving state aid under the provisions of chapter 158, Laws of 1913, providing for the construction of the South Side highway. No part of the funds hereby provided shall be used within the compact part of any city or town having a population of two thousand five hundred or more, such compact part to be determined by the highway commissioner."

Further amend said bill by striking out section 8 thereof and renumber section 9 so that it will be section 8.

The report was accepted, the amendments adopted and the bill referred to the Committee on Appropriations under the rules.

Mr. Shaw of Canaan, for the Committee on Revision of the Statutes, to whom was referred House Bill No. 397, An act in amendment of chapter 43, section 12 of the Public Statutes, relative to the annual publication of vital statistics in town reports, reported the same with the following resolution:

The report was accepted and the resolution of the committee adopted.

Amend section 2 by striking out all of said section after the word "effect" in line 2 and inserting in place thereof the following: "with the term of said county officers elected in the year 1918," so that said section as amended shall read as follows:

"SECT. 2. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed and this act shall take effect with the term of said county officers elected in the year 1918."

The report was accepted, the amendment adopted and the bill ordered to a third reading.

In reply to a resolution introduced by Mr. Challis of Manchester at the morning session of March 1, that

WHEREAS, House Bill No. 503, An act to extend the charter of The Northern Fidelity and Trust company, has been reported to the Senate by the Senate Committee on Banks, with an amendment which, if adopted, will return said bill to this House for concurrence in the amendment, and

WHEREAS, It is reported that the extension of this charter will give to The Northern Fidelity and Trust company extraordinary rights and privileges denied by general law to other trust companies of the state, therefore,

Resolved, That the bank commissioners be requested to inform this House of the history of this charter, the privileges and powers granted therein, and to communicate any facts in their possession that will enable the House to act intelligently upon the bill renewing said charter,— the following reply was received by the Speaker:

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

OFFICE OF BANK COMMISSIONERS.

CONCORD, March 5, 1917.

*Hon. Arthur P. Morrill,
Speaker of the House of Representatives,
Concord, N. H.*

SIR:—The bank commissioners are in receipt of a communication from the House of Representatives asking that the commission furnish the House with the history of the Northern Fidelity & Trust Company charter, the privileges and powers granted therein, and to communicate any facts in their possession that will enable the House to act intelligently upon the bill extending this charter.

In compliance with this request the commissioners submit the following data:

The Northern Fidelity & Trust Company charter was granted by the legislature of 1901, by an act approved March 21, 1901. The powers granted by this charter are contained in the first and second sections of chapter 269 of the Laws of 1901; and the company is there given,

“All the powers and privileges incident to corporations of a similar nature, for the purpose of prosecuting the business of a safe deposit trust and indemnity company;

“To receive on deposit or for safe keeping, money and other valuables, the funds of trustees, guardians, executors or others;

“To make and negotiate loans;

“To loan, borrow, and deal in money and securities;

“To issue and become surety upon official, indemnity and other bonds;

“To act as trustee, guardian, executor, receiver, agent, or any other representative capacity under judicial appointment or otherwise;

“To issue, register, and countersign certificates of stock, bonds, or other evidence of indebtedness, and to receive and make payments on account of same; and

"To do a general banking business.

"Said corporation shall be entitled to the privileges and powers granted to foreign surety companies by chapter 172 of the Public Statutes; and it shall be under the sole supervision of the bank commissioners."

Section 3 authorizes the company to begin business when the sum of $100,000 shall have been paid in in cash and a certificate of such payment, verified by oath by a majority of the directors, shall have been filed with the secretary of state.

The charter of this company gives it no location for doing business. It is in this respect a roving charter which can be located in any town of the state, regardless of the necessity for such a charter. The commissioners know of no other trust company charter granted by the legislature where the place of business of the company is not fixed in the charter.

It will thus be seen that this company is not only authorized to do the general business of a trust company, but also that of an indemnity company, being authorized to issue and become surety upon official, indemnity and other bonds; yet it is placed under the sole supervision of the bank commissioners, who have nothing to do with insurance companies of any character or description.

The records of the secretary of state do not show who pay the charter fees, and therefore it is impossible to tell officially who paid the charter fee for this charter.

The bank commissioners are informed that whoever paid the charter fee sold the charter soon after. It was at that time, or later bought by parties in Littleton for the sum of $3,000, to prevent its use in that locality. Still later, in 1911, it was sold to six banks in Keene for $5,000, with the agreement that it should never be used in Grafton or Coös counties.

Two of the purchasers in Keene are mutual savings banks. The statutes of this state prescribe the investments of savings banks. Trust company charters are not among the enumerated securities that a savings bank can buy.

It is also reported to the bank commissioners that this charter was purchased in Keene for the purpose of preventing the granting of a trust company charter to other parties.

In 1911, the legislature, on the recommendation of the chairman of the bank commission, the late Richard M. Scammon, passed a general law, chapter 120, Laws of 1911, taking away from trust companies that had not at that time exercised these powers, the right to issue, sell or negotiate bonds or mortgage securities, the right to guarantee bonds, mortgage securities or other choses in action of other persons or corporations, and the right to engage in the business of marine, fire or life insurance, or fidelity, surety, accident, health, liability, credit, title or other form of casualty insurance.

The object of this law was to confine the business of trust companies within the province of such companies as their powers are exercised in other states.

This act took away from the Northern Fidelity & Trust Company all its rights to act as an indemnity or surety company.

The act of 1911 also provided that all trust companies incorporated for the purpose of doing the business of a trust company or a general banking business should begin business within four years of the date of their incorporation, and that any such corporation holding a charter on the first day of January, 1911, that should fail to organize within four years from that date, its charter should be void.

This act would have vacated the charter of the Northern Fidelity & Trust Company on the first day of January, 1915, or just prior to the meeting of the legislature of that year.

Towards the close of the session of the legislature of 1913 the Senate Committee on Banks reported a bill extending the charter of the Northern Fidelity & Trust Company for four years from May 1, 1913. The rules of the Senate were suspended, the printing of the bill was dispensed with, and the bill was passed by the Senate at the same session it was reported from the committee. It went to the House and was favorably reported by the bank committee, and passed. Thus, this charter was given four years more of life with powers directly in contravention to the policy of the state as established by chapter 120 of the Session Laws of 1911.

The legislature of 1915 had many applications for charters of trust companies. Many national banks of the state at that time were of the opinion that they might be obliged to exchange their national charters for state charters. To secure uniformity of trust company charters, a general law was passed making the attorney-general and the bank commissioners a board of incorporation for such companies, chapter 109 of the Laws of 1915. All applicants for trust company charters at that session of the legislature acquiesced in this general law and withdrew their requests for specific charters.

The powers of trust companies are clearly defined in the law of 1915, and they are again expressly prohibited from doing the business forbidden by the act of 1911, including the engaging in any kind of insurance business.

In the law of 1915, it is also provided that any charter granted under its provisions shall become void if its privileges are not exercised within one year from the date of incorporation. In this, the legislature of 1915 had particularly in mind the granting of charters that were obtained for the purpose of sale or that might be used as a club over existing corporations.

This general law of 1915 was most carefully considered, and it had to pass the scrutiny of the House Committee on Banks, and the Judiciary Committee as well; and its provisions were thoroughly examined in every detail by these committees.

The general law, section 34, chapter 109, Laws of 1915, provides as follows:

“No trust company, loan or trust company, loan and banking company, bank or banking company, or similar corporation, shall hereafter be appointed administrator of an estate, executor under a will, or guardian or conservator of the person or property of another."

If the charter of the Northern Fidelity & Trust Company is extended without amendment, it will alone of all the trust companies be authorized to act as administrator of an estate, executor under a will, guardian or conservator of the person or property of another.

The general law of 1915 for the incorporation of trust companies provides, among other things, that the board of incorporation consisting of the attorney-general and the bank commissioners shall pass upon the question whether the public convenience and advantage will be promoted by the establishment of such a corporation in any particular place.

If the charter of the Northern Fidelity & Trust Company is extended without amendment, it can be located anywhere in the state except in Grafton and Coös counties, regardless of whether the public convenience and advantage will be promoted thereby.

House Bill No. 503, which extends the charter of the Northern Fidelity & Trust Company for four years, was presented to the bank committee of the House and reported by them at a time when it was impossible for any member of the bank commission to be present and present the foregoing information. The bank committee of the House were therefore in ignorance of the privileges of this charter. After the bill reached the Senate, the information here contained was presented informally to the bank committee of that body, and a time for hearing of House Bill No. 503 was fixed.

Pending this hearing, the chairman of the bank commission was asked by parties interested in this charter to present to them an amendment that would eliminate the features of the charter that were objectionable to the bank commissioners. Accordingly, the following amendment was submitted to these parties on Thursday, February 22, 1917.

"Nothing contained in this act shall permit said corporation to transact any business forbidden by chapter 110 of the Laws of 1911, or of chapter 109 of the Laws of 1915. It shall be unlawful for said corporation to issue any shares until the par value of said shares together with a surplus equal to twenty per cent of said par value shall have been paid in in cash."

Five days later, on Tuesday following, February 27, the chairman of the commission was informed that this amendment was satisfactory to the owners of the charter, and that no opposition would be made to its incorporation in House Bill No. 503, which extends its charter.

The next day, Wednesday, February 28, had been set by the bank committee of the Senate for a hearing on this bill. At that hearing the parties who were interested in renewing this charter appeared and asked for a postponement of the hearing for one week, although the day previous they had informed the chairman of the bank commission and the members of the Senate Committee on Banks that the foregoing amendment was satisfactory to them.

The Senate refused a postponement of the hearing, and incorporated the amendment in the bill, adding thereto a further amendment of their own locating the Northern Fidelity & Trust Company in Keene.

House Bill 503 as amended by the Senate takes away all objections to the renewal of this charter, although it is extending its life four years, whereas any new trust company starting under the general law must begin business within one year of the date of the granting of its charter or the charter becomes void.

If no action is taken on the renewal of this charter, its powers and privileges will be in force until May 1, 1917. During this intervening time of nearly two months it can be sold and can be located anywhere in the state except in the counties of Grafton and Coös. Should such an event happen, we would have the anomaly of just one trust company in the state authorized to do a general banking business, conduct a savings department, and hazard both its banking business and its savings department by becoming surety on official, indemnity and other bonds.

Banking and insurance business have no relation to each other, and they are recognized as separate and apart by the state in placing their supervision under two different departments.

In view of all the circumstances concerning this charter, the powers conferred therein, the fact that it has no definite home, that it has been sold at least twice, and twice purchased to prevent its location, that it can be used as a menace to existing banking institutions, and that the bank commission have as yet been unable to learn to what use it is to be put if its life is extended, we are of the opinion that the only safe course for the legislature now to pursue is to amend it as amended by the Senate Committee on Banks and to limit its extension so that it will become void if not used within one year, as is provided in the case of charters granted under the general law.

Very respectfully,

JAMES O. LYFORD,
Chairman, Bank Commission.

The letter was ordered printed in the Journal of the House and then referred to the Committee on Banks.

The report was accepted.

Mr. Wood of Portsmouth, for the Committee on Engrossed Bills, to whom was referred Senate Bill No. 36, An act to make uniform the law of bill of lading, reported the same under Joint Rule 6 with the following amendment, and the recommendation that the amendment be adopted:

Amend sub-divisions (a) and (b) of section 40 by striking out the word "seller" in the second line of said sub-division (a) and inserting in place thereof the word "buyer," and by striking out the word "buyer" in the second line of said sub-division (b) and inserting in place thereof the word "seller," so that said sub-divisions (a) and (b) as thus amended will read as follows:

"(b) Where by the bill the goods are deliverable to the seller or to his agent, or to the order of the seller or of his agent, the seller thereby reserves the property in the goods. MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

His Excellency, the Governor, then appeared and laid before the House the following message:

To the Members of the General Court:

In view of the present crisis in our international affairs, I feel it my duty to recommend to you the passage of a bill making available the sum of five hundred thousand dollars to be expended in providing for the defense of both the state and the nation.

The present session of the legislature is soon to be brought to a close, and unless an extra session of the General Court is called, involving, as that does, considerable expense, the state will be without adequate means to respond to a call of the federal government.

The patriotism of New Hampshire never has been found wanting when the national honor and the protection of our citizens have been at stake. Our people already are aroused to the necessity of making provision for the defense of the country, as indicated by the expression of the towns at their recent annual meetings.

I believe that your appropriation should be adequate, and that you are ready to trust the executive department to use only so much of the appropriation as may be necessary to meet any emergency that may arise.

In the event of war, there is little doubt that whatever sum it is necessary for us to expend will be reimbursed to us by the national government.

I therefore ask that you give early consideration to this question, that the action of New Hampshire may be an inspiration to other states of the Union in rallying to the defense of the nation.

HENRY W. KEYES,
Governor.

Amend said bill by striking out all after the enacting clause and substituting in place thereof the following:

SECTION 1. No person, co-partnership, or corporation shall make any loan of money, credit, goods, or things of value in the amount or to the value of three hundred dollars, or less, whether secured or unsecured, and charge, contract for or receive a greater rate of interest than six per cent per annum therefor, without first obtaining a license from the selectmen or board of mayor and aldermen of the town or city wherein such business is conducted. Application for such license shall be in writing and shall contain the full name and address, both of the residence and place of business, of the applicant and if the applicant is a co-partnership, or corporation, of every member, or officer thereof; also the city or town, with street and number, if any, where the business is to be conducted. Every such applicant, at the time of making such application, shall pay to the town or city wherein such business is to be conducted the sum of fifty dollars as an annual license fee and in full payment of all expenses of examinations under, and administration of, this act.

The applicant shall also, at the same time file with the town or city a surety company bond in which the applicant shall be the obligor, in the sum of one thousand dollars, which bond shall run to said town or city for the use of said town or city and of any person, or persons who may have a cause of action against the obligor of said bond under the provisions of this act, and shall be conditioned that said obligor will conform to and abide by each and every provision of this act and will pay to the town or city and to any such person or persons, any and all moneys that may become due or owing to the town or city and to such person or persons, from said obligor, under and by virtue of the provisions of this act.

Upon the filing of such application and the approval of said bond and the payment of said fee, the selectmen or board of mayor and aldermen shall issue a license to the applicant to make loans in accordance with the provisions of this act for a period which shall expire the first day of April next following the date of its issuance; provided, that if the license is issued for a period of less than six months the license fee shall be twenty-five dollars. Such license shall not be assigned.

If in the opinion of the selectmen or board of mayor and aldermen the bond shall at any time appear to be insecure or exhausted, or otherwise doubtful, an additional bond in the sum of not more than one thousand dollars satisfactory to them shall be filed and upon failure of the obligor to file such additional bond, the license shall be revoked by said board.

The selectmen or board of mayor and aldermen may, in their discretion, upon notice to the licensee and opportunity to be heard, revoke such license if satisfied that the licensee has violated any provision of this act; and in case the licensee shall be convicted a second time of a violation of section 2 of this act said license shall be revoked; provided, that the second offence shall have occurred after a prior conviction. The issuance of another license after a revocation shall be at the discretion of the selectmen or board of mayor and aldermen.

The license shall be kept conspicuously posted in the place of business of the licensee.

No person, co-partnership, or corporation so licensed shall make any loan or transact any business provided for by this act, under any other name, or at any other place of business than that named in the license. Not more than one office, or place of business shall be maintained under the same license but the town or city may issue more than one license to the same person or corporation upon the payment of an additional license fee and the filing of an additional bond for each license.

In case of the removal of a licensee, he shall at once give written notice thereof to the selectmen or board of mayor and aldermen who shall attach to the license their consent in writing to the removal.

The selectmen or board of mayor and aldermen for the purpose of discovering violations of this act, may either personally, or by any person designated by them, at any time and as often as they may desire, investigate the loans and business of every licensee and of every person, co-partnership and corporation by whom or which any such loan shall be made, whether such person, co-partnership, or corporation shall act, or claim to act as principal, agent, or broker, or under, or without the authority of this act; and for that purpose they shall have free access to the books, papers, records and vaults of all such persons, co-partnerships and corporations; they shall also have authority to examine, under oath, all persons whomsoever, whose testimony they may require, relative to such loans, or business.

The licensee shall keep such books and records as in the opinion of the selectmen or board of mayor and aldermen will enable said board to determine whether the provisions of this act are being observed. Every such licensee shall preserve the records of final entry used in such business, including cards used in the card system, if any, for a period of at least one year after the making of any loan recorded therein.

No licensee or other person or corporation shall print, publish, or distribute or cause to be printed, published or distributed in any manner whatsoever, any written or printed statement with regard to the rates, terms or conditions for the lending of money, credit, goods or things of value, in amounts of three hundred dollars or less, which is false or calculated to deceive.

SECT. 2. Every person, co-partnership and corporation licensed hereunder may loan any sum of money, goods or things of value not exceeding in amount or value the sum of three hundred dollars and may charge, contract for and receive thereon interest at a rate not to exceed three per cent per month.

Interest shall not be payable in advance or compounded and shall be computed on unpaid balances. In addition to the interest herein provided for, charges may be made as follows: On loans not exceeding fifty dollars in amount, an inspection fee of one dollar may be collected at the time the loan is made, and on loans exceeding fifty dollars in amount, but not exceeding three hundred dollars, an inspection fee of two dollars may be collected at the time the loan is made, provided, however, that such inspection fees shall not be collected from the borrower for any new or additional loan, renewal or extension of the loan, unless at the time of making such new or additional loan, renewal or extension, a period of at least four months shall have elapsed from the time of making the previous charge for investigation. No charge or inspection fee shall be imposed unless the loan is actually made and no such fee shall be charged on any loan less than fifteen dollars. No charge, or amount whatsoever for any examination, service, brokerage, commission or other thing, or otherwise, shall be directly or indirectly charged, contracted for or received, except as hereinbefore provided, and except the lawful fees, if any, actually and necessarily paid out by the licensee to any public officer, for filing, or recording in any public office, any instrument securing the loan, which fees may be collected when the loan is made, or at any time thereafter.

If interest, or charges in excess of those permitted by this act shall be charged, contracted for, or received, the contract of loan shall be void and the licensee shall have no right to collect, or receive any principal, interest or charges whatsoever.

No person shall owe any licensee at any time more than three hundred dollars for principal.

SECT. 3. Every licensee shall:

Deliver to the borrower, at the time a loan is made, a statement in the English language showing in clear and distinct terms the amount and date of the loan and of its maturity, the nature of the security; if any, for the loan, the name and address of the borrower and of the licensee and the rate of interest charged. Upon such statement there shall be printed in English a copy of section two (2) of this act;

Give to the borrower a plain and complete receipt for all payments made on account of any such loan at the time such payments are made;

Upon repayment of the loan in full, mark indelibly every paper signed by the borrower with the word "paid" or

"cancelled," and discharge any mortgage, restore any pledge, return any note and cancel any assignment given by the borrower as security.

No licensee shall take any confession of judgment or any power of attorney. Nor shall he take any note, promise to pay, or security that does not state the actual amount of the loan, the time for which it is made and the rate of interest charged, nor any instrument in which blanks are left to be filled after execution.

SECT. 4. No person, co-partnership or corporation except as authorized by this act shall, directly or indirectly, charge, contract for, or receive any interest or consideration greater than six per cent per annum upon the loan, use or forbearance of money, goods or things of value or upon the loan, use or sale of credit, of the amount of value of three hundred dollars or less.

The foregoing prohibition shall apply to any person who, as security for any such loan, use, forbearance of money, goods or things of value or for any such loan, use or sale of credit, makes a pretended purchase of property from any person and permits the owner or pledgor to retain the possession thereof, or who, by any device or pretense of charging for his services, or otherwise, seeks to obtain a greater compensation than is authorized by this act.

Any person, and the several officers and employees of any corporation, who shall violate the foregoing prohibitions shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punishable by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars or by imprisonment of not more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court.

Any licensee and any officer or employee of a licensee who shall violate any of the provisions of section 2 of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punishable by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars or by imprisonment of not more than six months or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court.

No loan for which a greater rate of interest or charge than is allowed by this act has been contracted for or received, wherever made, shall be enforced in this state and any person in any wise participating therein in this state shall be subject to the provisions of this act.

SECT. 5. This act shall not apply to any person, co-partnership or corporation doing business under any law of this state or of the United States relating to banks, trust companies, or building and loan associations, or doing business under the supervision of the board of bank commissioners.

SECT. 6. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed, and this act shall take effect June 1, 1917.

RESOLUTION.

Mr. Rogers of Plainfield, for the Committee on Agriculture, offered the following resolution:

WHEREAS, Public attention is being called to urgent need of active effort upon the part of all to increase, conserve, and properly distribute the supply of food stuffs; and

WHEREAS, New Hampshire raises but one-fourth of the food products she consumes, and New England an even less proportion, the balance coming chiefly by rail from other sections of the country; and

WHEREAS, The railroad systems entering New England, notwithstanding that they have lately proved inadequate, will have to assume the enormous added burden of transporting military and naval equipment and supplies; and

WHEREAS, Present conditions are unfavorable to crop production—agricultural labor supply already greatly depleted, fertilizer scarce—potash impossible to obtain and seed supply scanty at unheard-of prices, and

WHEREAS, It is of paramount importance that our country continue to send increased shipments of foodstuffs to nations allied to us in the present struggle; and

WHEREAS, An increased crop raised here will not only render the food supply of New England more secure but will release for export corresponding amounts, and will materially relieve the burden of the transportation systems; and

WHEREAS, In answer to the call of President Wilson all loyal citizens of whatever station are rallying round the flag—and will deny themselves—make the utmost sacrifices if need be and even risk life itself in its defense—

Resolved, That we express our firm belief that the New Hampshire farmers when they realize the solemn and weighty responsibility resting upon them under these difficult conditions will rise to the occasion and do their duty on this the first line of defense; and

Resolved, That we, the members of the General Court as we return to our homes lose no time and use every effort to impress upon our constituents this duty and opportunity of patriotic service.

In behalf of the people of the state, whom you have here so well represented, I thank you for the attention you have given to your duties and I congratulate you upon the record you have made for wise, liberal and patriotic action. Returning to your constituents, you can continue to be of great service to the state through your knowledge of the needs of the hour and your leadership of the people in meeting those needs.
